I'd like to talk today re the random alphabet draw for LAUSD election. On reading the state election code more closely and thinking about this issue, I believe the County will use the random alphabet draw done by the Secretary of State for all June 2014 races. The City would not conduct a separate random alphabet draw for that LAUSD race. Let's talk ASAP because we would need to revise the "general information for candidates" pamphlet right away, and confirm with County.

If we don't get a chance to talk about this today, I suggest we act now to just delete the reference to the random alphabet draw in the candidate general info pamphlet (I believe that's only in one place). If it's referenced in other published documents you send out, let's not include it there either. We can then sort out the issue over the next few days.

Thanks. It may be that we do conduct the random draw (on 3/10) but make it clear that it's only for the runoff election because the Secretary of State per State Law does the random draw for the June 2014 election, including all races consolidated onto that June 2014 election.

Let's re-visit this on Monday.
